About the Resource Guide

White River Families First Coalition first published a community resource guide in 2004. The goal was to provide a locally based publication that shared both supportive resources as well as the many opportunities and activities available right in this area. As the community and the resources changed and grew, so did the need to publish another edition of the resource guide.

The 2008 edition focuses on the entire Pierce County plateau, including the communities of Bonney Lake, Buckley, Wilkeson, Carbonado, South Prairie and Prairie Ridge. Most of the information in this guide is within these boundaries. Additional resources in Enumclaw, Sumner and other surrounding communities are sometimes included by the researchers. Every attempt was made to be accurate, complete and inclusive.

The volunteers and sponsoring organizations do not specifically endorse or recommend any individual organizations or businesses listed in this guide.
